

Biological Testing

Is Coronavirus in Your Building?

Biological testing is the gold standard for identifying pathogenic organisms on a surface. This form of testing counts the number of colony forming units (CFU) per area of the surface being tested.

Biological Testing Kits

It's easy to use with quick results so that you know just what you're up against. This kit tests for SARS-CoV-2, MRSA, Staph, Mold, and total organisms on surfaces. Simply swab the surface, place it in the provided tube, and send it in to the lab.

Comprehensive Test Reporting

Our comprehensive test reporting details your results in a format that is easy to interpret and share with key stakeholders.

Confidential Result Reporting

The information from your test will not be given to those for whom it is not intended. The proprietary rights of our customers will be totally protected. Data reports and/or other related information will not be provided to any person other than the customer.
